The Security System That Goes The Distance

Standard Features For Outstanding Security

Sophisticated Telephone Control. Monitor and control security with any touchtone phone—including your cellular phone—at home or from anywhere in the world. Hear a system status report.

Advanced Speech. An extensive 225-word vocabulary communicates vital information clearly. Voice feedback reassures you when you've armed the system properly and lets you know it's set the way you want.

Paging Keeps You In The Know. Concord Ultra can send a numeric page of any security event. It can page you when your children have arrived home safely and disarmed the system. It can page you in an emergency for instant communication when you're away.

Get ready for security that's unlike anything else in its range. Concord™ Ultra offers a long list of popular features. The on-board crystal 96-zone wireless receiver has an open-air range of 2300 feet, solving distance challenges for large homes and detached buildings.

It's fully loaded with an impressive list of standard features for total performance. And you can add modules for advanced electronic capabilities like Internet security monitoring, home automation integration and more.

Concord Ultra is ready to go right out of the box. All standard peripherals are pre-installed and tested, saving you installation time and money.

Convenient X10 Light Control. Turn lights on and off automatically when you enter your home. Lights can come on in an emergency and can be set up to operate on your own schedule.

High Wireless Zone Count. Concord Ultra's 96 wireless zones provide maximum expansion for multiple rooms in larger homes, detached buildings, and perimeter protection such as entry gates.

Simple Keychain Touchpad Operation. Arm and disarm the system with the touch of a button. No codes to remember.

Partitions Watch Over Separate Areas. Two partitions let you monitor the home and nearby areas, such as guest houses, detached garages or workshops.

Futuristic Options Are Here Today

Internet Gateway Module.* This revolutionary option lets you monitor and control security from an Internet website. A wireless data receiver links to a paging network for website access. You can be notified of system events by email, pager or phone.

Home Automation Module. Concord Ultra can be integrated with home automation systems for energy management, lighting control and audio/video system control.

Cellular Backup Module.* This valuable feature automatically reports alarms by cellular telephone in case of landline telephone communication failure. Reporting is always possible, even if your phone line is cut.

* Services provided through a third party business at an additional cost. Not available in all areas.
